

600 PEOPLE SEE CIRCUS

Shows at Y. M. C. A. Prove Best Attraction in Years Here.

More than six hundred people filled the bleachers in the gym at the Y. M. C. A. building last evening to see the opening performance of Jarum and Bingums great aggregation of circus entertainers, while many people were unable to gain admission to the main show because of the limited seating capacity.

The opening night of the circus plainly demonstrated the fact that it is positively the best attraction that has appeared in this city for many years. It is an unqualified success from start to finish and the people who were unable to attend last evening are urged to be present tonight. You will get your moneys

At a session of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. held last evening, Leonard Spande, at present employed by Judd Bros., was employed as assistant physical director of the Y. M. C. A.

worth—that is sure.

Crowds Fill Street.

Long before the sideshows—which are located in the lobby of the building—opened last night, the street in front of the building was packed solid with people waiting to get in. The doors opened at 7:30 o'clock and the side attractions which included everything from a red-headed coon to the fat lady, living skeleton and the wild man, attracted much attention from the crowds. Every one of the side show attractions deserves special mention, for all the parts represented were carried out in true circus style.

Shortly after 8 o'clock the main show was opened, the entire seating capacity of the gymnasium being occupied, while scores stood about in various parts of the big room. Murray Wheat, the announcer, first announced the grand parade. This procession included every performer taking part in the circus and they were greeted by much applause upon their entry. The first number was Thompson and his trained Arabian ponies and they were most popular with the spectators. Smith, on his swaying pole, showed exceptional athletic ability and made a hit with the crowd. The swinging ladder act by Charles Glatke and Roy New showed unusual ability and was greatly appreciated. The dumb drill by twenty young boys was perfectly executed.

Every other number on the program was a stellar attraction, reflecting much credit upon L. M. Ellis, physical director, "Jarum," and Leonard Spande, assistant director, "Bingum," and all others who have been working hard for weeks in preparation for the circus. The complete success of the opening show insures a packed house again tonight, and those desiring to attend are urged to get tickets early.

All Numbers Applauded.

Included among the other numbers of the main show, all of which were warmly applauded were a skit entitled "Har Mother's Olney Child," by Charles Henry and Joe Marias; pyramids on dual bars, by the members of the senior leaders' class; the trained elephants; drill by the business women's class; the Muscelonian boys; pyramids on Roman ladders, by the intermediate boys; bareback riders; dumbbell drill, junior boys; an exhibition wrestling match by masked contestants; Prof. Byrnie and his trained bears; Roman ring act; dance of the brownies by the ladies' class; and a most amusing act by the quartet of clowns under direction of Charles Henry. The closing number a flag drill in which 88 people took part, formed a fitting close to a most enjoyable entertainment.

Music by Orchestra.

Music for the circus last night was furnished by the Columbia orchestra and was a much appreciated feature of the evening. Mrs. Imel and Mrs. Edmunds contributed a vocal duet and were compelled to respond with an encore. Ice cream cones and peanuts were sold by vendors who added among the crowd just like a regular circus and even the odor of the sawdust ring was not lacking.

Too much cannot be said of the circus for every number was a treat by itself. It must be seen to be fully appreciated. Tonight in the last night and everybody who failed to see the show last evening should be there. The side shows will open at 7:30 o'clock promptly and the main shows at 8 o'clock.

JARUM & BINGUM WILL CLOSE
LOCAL ENGAGEMENT
TONIGHT

Jarum & Bingham, whose tremendous successes at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium have been the talk of the town, have been persuaded by the local people to hold over this evening, this being the final engagement.

The many who were turned away last night will have the opportunity to see the big circus this evening at the regular hour.

Last night's production was a repetition of the initial performance, only the numbers were staged with more ease, the first evening's show having enabled the stars to play better to the crowds.

The side show was embellished with newly arrived freaks last evening. The Lady Snake Charmer, by John Merila, and the Bearded Lady, by Oscar Birch, were the new attractions that had been delayed along the road.

Joe Marias, who was one of the big stars in the clown troupe, was injured above the left eye while executing a stunt on the dual bars, and was forced to withdraw for the evening. It is definitely promised, however, that he will appear in his regular place this evening.

The artistic poses of the Muscelonian boys were one of the features at last night's performance. Those who took part were: John Nelson, John Merila, Frank Laube, Jack Middleton, and George Witticka.

The dance of the Brownies was a most unique attraction. This highly entertaining number was put on by the Ladies' class, and proved one of the stellar features of the big show.

Among the many who contributed much to the success of the event, many of whom did not work under the calcium glare, are: "Pete" Cosovich, Earl Hull, Roy Carlson, Gaybird Munson, Clyde Johnson, Merle Hussong, Carl Edlund, C. D. Ross, Herbert Ambler, B. G. Morsley, and officer Entler.

Assistant Physical Director.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. last night Leonard Spande of this city was elected assistant physical director. He is a local boy and one of the best class leaders in the Y. M. C. A., thoroughly reliable and blessed with a disposition that will undoubtedly make him a favorite at the local institution. He is at present in the employ of Judd Bros., clothiers, but will sever his connection with that firm at an early date.

BIG CIRCUS WINS PRAISE

HUNDREDS TURNED AWAY FROM LAST NIGHT'S PER-FORMANCE

Bigger, greater and more glorious than ever, Jarum & Bingham's celebrated circus opened a two days' engagement at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last evening, turning hundreds of people away from the crowded doors long before the hour for beginning had arrived.

The show proved the most successful amateur production ever seen in the city. From beginning to end, the daring, hair-raising stunts of the performers, the curious antics of the educated Arabian ponies, the big waddling elephants, the bareback riders, the trained bears, the dance of the brownies, the reincarnation of his satanic majesty, the lively and gayly garbed clowns, these are only a few of the numerous features that surprised the audience with repeated thrills. The closing number, a flag drill participated in by 88 people, was a fitting climax to the evening's program.

The big side-show opened in the lobby at 7:30 o'clock. Murray Wheat, as the Never-Stop-O-Graph, introduced the many odd creatures gathered from the most isolated corners of the world.

The Hall of Freaks sent many a cold chill down the back of the bystanders. There was the Kansas farmer, represented by Chas. H. Withers, Junior, who barely escaped the big show with his life. He was ever monkeying with the machinery. The Country Lady, by J. R. Hinman, caused continual worry to the M. D.'s, in her frantic search for her husband. Dande, the only red-headed coon in captivity, by Gearhart Larsen, was possessed of a splendid voice. The Sword Swallow, John Bell, was over-burdened with the many medals won all over the world. The Giants and the Dwarf, by Jens Hermann, J. D. Snell and Mark Hustwick, were also big attractions. Shadow, the living skeleton, by Charles Gratke, made the fat men happy. Congo, the wild man, bound in hides and dressed in savage style, was a terrorizing personage. Teeny-Tiny, the fat lady, by Cecil Hathway, was a source of great interest. She attained her beautiful complexion thru the continued eating of pop corn.

Immediately after the conclusion of the side-show, the big pageant took place in the main top. Nearly one hundred people took part in the impressive spectacle. The band struck up a merry tune the announcer took his place, "General" Jarum, by L. M. Ellis, assumed his stern and chilly look, and the big show started.

Amid the strains of the lively circus music, there were the continued shrills of the peanut, popcorn and ice cream cone vendors. There was hurry, scurry, mysterious order within confusion, there were the many circus hands jerking the boxes, mats and performers' equipment back and forth; there was the announcer's sharp whistle, there were the gayly dressed performers coming and going to replace and vie with one another for the plaudits of the multitude. And as a frame to everything else, the clowns were always on hand.

Cobban's orchestra rendered splendid music. The Arabian ponies, directed by Prof. Thompson, were wonders of the 20th century. Sumida was one of the stellar performers of the big show. The dance of the Brownies, by the Ladies' class, was highly entertaining. The reincarnation of his satanic majesty, by the clowns, was one of the most sensational numbers on the program. Chas. Henry, who arises from oblivion, to swing the burning Indian clubs with all of the big lights out, and surrounded by the balance of the clown-troupe, was one of the stars of the entire production. The clowns were: Joe Marias, Chas. Henry, Gearhart Larsen, Alfred Gerding, Jens Hermann, Curtis Dyer and Ray Moore. They were a popular portion of the show.

Physical Director Ellis, who was in charge of the big production, deserves much credit for the success of the big event. He was ably assisted by Leonard Spande, assistant physical director. Frank Laube made a special trip from Portland to help Mr. Ellis. Chas. Henry has been working upon the program for some time. The swinging and swaying act on the perch pole, was a thrilling performer. George Smith, in this act, executed some exceptionally clever feats near the top of the tent. The swinging ladder act, by Chas. Gratke and Roy Nesse, was another death-courting scene. A dumb bell drill by a selected number of boys of the preparatory class, was a splendid production. A skit entitled "Her Mother's Only Child," by Joe Marias and Chas. Henry, brought down the house. Pyramids on the dual bars, by the Senior Leaders' class, was most interesting. The herd of trained elephants showed new stunts that have recently been accomplished with these animals. A drill by the Business Women' class was well received. The Muscolonian Boys, in artistic poses, were vigorously applauded. Boys of the intermediate class, in daring stunts on the Roman ladders, performed marvelously. Mme. Callender and Mme. Rouslow, European bare back riders, were marvels. A dumb bell drill by the Junior boys, and an act by Prof. Byain's trained bears, were well received numbers. Jack Middleton, in the Roman ring act, was one of the most enthusiastic workers. L. E. Reynolds, as the chief electrician, contributed much to the success of the event. Ruth Spande, A. E. Jensen, Joe Marias, J. R. Hinman, Secretary Markell, and the many others whose names appear on the program, were hard workers. A vocal duet by Mrs. J. G. Imel and Mrs. Edmunds were pleasing numbers.

The entire production will be repeated this evening.

CROWDS VISIT SHOWS

"When Astoria Was Young" Attractions Proving Big Event Here.

Astoria's big When Astoria Was Young celebration was opened yesterday morning and will continue up to and including tomorrow evening. The streets of Astoria were crowded throughout the business section yesterday and every boat and train entering the city is bringing scores of people. The largest crowd is expected to be here today and thousands of outside people will have attended the celebration before its is over.

The celebration was opened with the first appearance of the Columbia Boys' Drum Corps, whose members paraded the streets soon after 1:30 o'clock. Leonard Spande, assistant physical director of the Y. M. C. A. had charge of the junior track meet on Commercial street. The events included fifty-yard dash, seventy-five yard dash, broad jump and bar chinning. The prizes were awarded on the basis of total points scored in the four events.

Track Meet Is Held.

Fred Harrison was first with 12 points. Robert Rhodes second with 11 points, and Walter Moyer third with 8 points. The first prize was a fine silver cup, second a silver medal, and third a bronze medal. The athletic events today include a volleyball game between teams from Portland and Astoria Y. M. C. A.'s, on Commercial street. This will take place at 3 o'clock and will be followed by the senior track meet at 4:00 o'clock.

Yesterday afternoon a large crowd saw the Astoria Athletics defeat the Rainier baseball team in a fast game on the local field by the score of 8 to 5. The game here Sunday between the same two teams resulted in victory for the Athletics by a score of 2 to 1. A large crowd also witnessed that game.

Band concerts were given on the streets last evening and were greatly enjoyed. Chairman Hinman and the members of the various committees have all their gambling houses and other wild west show features going full blast on Fourteenth street, between Bond and Commercial and great crowds are attending.

Old Relics Draw Crowds.

The exhibition of old relics in charge of J. E. Harley, is one of the best features of the celebration and is attracting hundreds of people. The Columbia theatre was packed to capacity last evening to see the opening performance of "The Days of '49", a melodrama of the early days. It was exceptionally good and the members of the cast were congratulated by everybody. This show will be featured again tonight and tomorrow night.

The boxing bouts at the Astoria theatre at 2 o'clock this afternoon are expected to attract a huge crowd. The Bronson-Benjamin bout of ten rounds will be for the featherweight championship of the Pacific coast. Joe Fredericks and Billy Nelson will furnish six rounds of fast boxing in the main preliminary. Nace grant will referee the contests.

The popular features of the When Astoria Was Young celebration are the roulette wheels, crap tables, horse races, twenty-one games and other exciting amusements. These places were visited by hundreds last night and fortunes were won and lost. The money however was the "bones" kind prepared especially for the occasion. Dances are being held each evening at the Dreamland pavilion and the Raymond open-air hall, both on Fourteenth near Bond.

Run on the Bank.

The Hudson Bay bank, of which W. L. Habernicht is cashier, was doing a land office business last night, issuing the special paper money, which must be used in gaining admission to any of the When Astoria Was Young attractions. This money known as "bones" is also being used freely in bucking the roulette wheels and other devices.

Jarum & Bingham, the renowned circus people, played Saturday evening in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium for the last time. This was the only amateur production that can be recalled within recent years, that was forced to extend its engagement to a three night stand. To the producer, Physical Director Ellis, is due a big measure of congratulation upon the remarkable success of the event. Mr. Ellis was ably assisted by Leonard Spande, the assistant physical director. When the big circus returns next year, the people will know what there is awaiting them.

LAST PERFORMANCE GOOD.

Circus Draws Another Big Crowd
All of Whom Were Well Pleased.

Though the first two nights attracted capacity houses, the closing performance of the circus staged under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian association last evening was enjoyed by the third full house. The shows last evening pleased as well as they did on the first two nights and everybody went home highly pleased with the attractions. The 150 people who participated in the circus this week were congratulated on all sides for the splendid manner in which they took their parts, while L. M. Ellis and his assistant, Leonard Spande, were warmly praised for the splendid drilling of the various performers. The circus was so successful in every way that it is possible that it will become an annual event.

LEIF'S CASE IS TRAGIC

Epicurean Tastes Lead Youngster to Miss Gustatory Delights.

Leif Tunesvik, aged 13, has an epicurean taste which scorns onions. Hence this, the Tragedy of Leif.

Leif entered the 150-yard race for boys under 14 held yesterday on Twelfth street between Exchange and Commercial under the auspices of the Fourth of July committee along with Walter Kreischer, and two or three other youngsters of like years. Among the boys Leif was a prime favorite.

"He'll win it just as easily as that" insisted one youngster in lordly manner boyishly forgetting to make clear just what "that" was.

But Leif disappointed his loyal supporters.

"Come on, you Leif—
"Hurry up Leif—"

"Aw, Leif, com'awn yuh c'n ketch him."

But Leif romped in a lazy second. Having decided that he didn't want a box of onions, he let his mind take langorous delight as he dawdled down the stretch in the thought of hot biscuits, like mother used to make.

It was Walter Kreischer, whom Leif could have beaten just as easily as the elusive "that" who won the first prize.

Mark well the tragedy to a youth of 13. The fatal first instead of being a box of onions as Leif had thought was half a box of oranges—golden, juicy, and sweet.

In the other races fun, not tragedy ruled. Prizes of two dollars for first and one dollar and a half for second obtained except were otherwise noted.

Boy's 50-yard dash—Clarence Feister, 1st; Gordon Bennett, 2nd.

Boy's shoe race—Austin Moyer, 1st; Gordon Bennett, 2nd.

Boy's club race—Gordon Bennett, 1st; Austin Moyer 2nd.

Boy's 50-yard hop—Charles Smith, 1st; Albert Westergren, 2nd.

Boy's 50-yard dash (under 12 years)—Gordon Bennett, 1st; Chas. Smith, 2nd.

Girl's 50-yard dash—Mac McCroskey, 1st, pair of gloves; Hansina Johansen, 2nd, box of candy.

Girl's Indian club race—Mac McCroskey, 1st; Hansina Johansen, 2nd.

Boy's mix-up race which the winner was the entry whose name was carried, in a sealed envelope, by the winner who did not know for whom he was running—Gordon Bennett, 1st, by Leif Tunesvik; Charles Smith, 2nd, by Gordon Bennett.

Some of the little boys at the Y. M. C. A. will teach Leonard Spande how to swim on July 5th.

Leonard Spande, assistant physical director at the Y. M. C. A. with some of the youngsters of that institution have returned from a hike to Bear creek. Leonard managed to keep up with the other boys.

JUNIOR TRACK MEET

Fred Harrison was awarded the cup as the highest-point contestant in the Junior Track meet Monday afternoon. Harrison had a total of 12 points. Rhodes won a silver medal, taking second place with 11 points. Moyer won a bronze medal with eight points. The 50-yard dash was won by Rhodes; the 75-yard dash was taken by Harrison; and the broadjump was won by Hurlbutt. Moyer chinned the bar the most times, winning that event.

FAST VOLLEYBALL.

The volleyball contest between the Businessmen and the Busy men was won by the former in two straight games, 21-7 and 21-14. The superior team work of the Business men won over the stellar individual work of Jens Hermann and Gea Larson of the Busy men. Owing to the non-appearance of the Portland Y. M. C. A. team, the local squad was divided and recruits obtained so the contest could be staged. By taking the tourney, the Business men became the winners of the cup put up by the committee for the affair.

For the Business men the players were: J. T. Ross, Dr. A. W. Kinney, R. J. Clark, C. E. Hill and Leb Carlson. For the Busy men; Gearhart Larson, Emil Nymann, Jens Hermann, Will Ashworth and W. R. Thompson.

BOYS ARE HOME

Astoria Youngsters Fail to Climb Mountain But Enjoy Outing.

The following account of the trip made to Saddle Mountain by the boys from the Y. M. C. A. who returned home last evening tired but happy, was written by one of the youngsters.

"Tuesday night, five or ten boys, slept in the Y. M. C. A. gym. Leonard Spande was supposed to wake us up at 3:45 a. m. but he didn't show up until 4:40 a. m. In the meantime, two of us boys had to crawl through the window and wake him up by the bell on the front door.

"We started out in Dr. Ball's Ford and D. B. Chisholm's Buick, at 5:20 a. m., arriving at Olney at 6:00 a. m. From there, we walked to Marksen's place, making 8 miles in four hours. All along the way we encountered the 'drifts' of mud and water. Maybe you don't believe it, if you don't look at our shoes. A little way from Marksen's, we found a fine camping place about ten feet above the creek. For our first meal, we had beans, potatoes, milk, water, bread and butter.

While all the preparations were being made, Mark Hustwick was fishing off the bank with a 'horse-blanket pin' as a hook. The Hikers' Incinerator company composed of Bartlett, Johnson and Garner tried to buy all the scraps, but soon gave up in despair on account of lack of 'scraps.' Then the company 'dissolved.'

"We all made refrigerators in the creek by piling stones close together, keeping our butter and canned goods cold. After dinner it was so hot that we all went swimming but the water was so cold that we soon came out. Then the old fashioned game of 'ups and downs' came into use. After our last meal we piled the bank with wood to last us all night. All through the night, we had watches with two boys on each watch of two hours. It rained all night and all forenoon the next day. Saddle Mountain could not be seen from any direction as the fog was very heavy. We were told by a man that if we went we would get wet and would not see anything on account of the dense fog. So the boys decided to go to Olney. By leaving camp at 12:30 p. m. We arrived at Olney at 5:00 p. m. After supper, we had some of our money for soap and laundry, and found a good camping place for the night. By that time the fog was up to its full height and we were disappointed because we could not stay another day.

"That night we went to bed just as soon as we had our meal. Early morning dawned bright and clear. For breakfast that morning consisted of flap-jacks, coffee and home-made. Cecil Hathaway made a dip with butter and half-grease. When he went to fry it, it broke into pieces, but he 'downed' it just the same, saying that anything is good when you are camping. After our breakfast, we went to Olney and spent the rest of our money. Leaving Olney at 10:30 a. m., we started home, arriving here at 3:15 p. m. Just as soon as we got here, we went into the tank.

"Everybody is joking, but because we did not go to the top of the mountain, but we don't care about that. About the last of August or the first of September, we are going on this again, and the weather must shine. The boys who went on the hike are Mark Hustwick, Wend Langford, Jack Chisholm, Charles Shith, John Garner, Eric Edgren, James Holmes, Arthur Johnson, Robert Bartlett, Cecil Hathaway, and Leonard Spande, leader."

BOYS TO TRAMP

Intermediate Class of the Y. M. C. A. to Visit at Saddle Mountain.

Leaving the Y. M. C. A. building at 5 o'clock tomorrow morning, a large number of the members of the intermediate class, will hike to Saddle Mountain where they will spend the remainder of the week camping out and enjoying the climb to the peak. The party will be in charge of Leonard Spande, superintendent of the boys' department of the local association. Each of the boys will carry his blanket, rations and a share of the cooking utensils. The boys expect to have a fine time and will return home Sunday evening.

Leonard Spande who will have just returned from the hike, returned yesterday from Seattle, Washington, where he has been attending the national conference of general secretaries of the Y. M. C. A. and boys' superintendents, which was held there recently. He enjoyed the sessions and secured many valuable ideas which he will inculcate into the work here.

On his way back to Astoria, Spande visited friends in Seattle and Portland.

Hikers Off To Saddle Mountain.

Leonard Spande, boys' secretary of the Astoria Y. M. C. A., departed from Astoria early this morning, accompanied by a large party of the intermediate class members, for a hike to Saddle Mountain, which will consume the remainder of the week, the boys returning home Sunday evening. Each of the boys will carry a pack containing his blankets, toilet articles, food and a share of the cooking utensils. The bunch expects to have a fine time both in camp and during the ascent of the mountain.

Yakovlev, the Soviet Union's first chief designer, had been studying the B-29's construction and the advanced technology it represented. "I was very interested in the aircraft," he said, "and I knew that the United States was the first to use the jet engine in the design of their jet fighters and bombers." He was also aware that the Americans had developed the atomic bomb. "I thought," he said, "that the Americans were going to be successful in the war, and I was sure that the Soviet Union would be able to catch up with them."

With the aid of a party of six soldiers, we went to the place where the natives had told us the bird was to be found. It was a small, open, sandy area, and the bird was seen to be feeding on the ground.

Despite the steady rain and the muddy roads, the visitors enjoyed the trip immensely and all were well and happy upon their arrival here. The party was in charge of Leonard Spande, assistant physical director, with Carl Knelsen as aide.

Those completing the round trip hike were: Eugene Younce, John Garner, Eric Edlund, Jack Chisholm, Einar Carlson, Reino Kiljunen, Alvin Wherity, Theodore Rautio, Emil Berg, Melvin Anderson, Harold Tenant, Jack Keating and James Holmes. Four other boys when the Hammond mill was reached on the return trip, rode in on a motor truck.

ELLIS BACK IN HARNESS

Physical Director Local Y. M. C. A. Enjoys Seabeck Summer School.

After spending two weeks at Seabeck, Washington attending the annual school for secretaries and physical directors of the Young Mens Christian Association of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana, L. M. Ellis who is physical director of the Astoria Y. M. C. A., returned home yesterday very enthusiastic over the sessions.

Seabeck Conference Success.

"The conference and school at Seabeck was a revelation," said Mr. Ellis, "and I certainly enjoyed every minute of my stay. Prominent speakers and association leaders from all parts of the country were in attendance and the work proved highly interesting and will be of untold benefit to us.

"The work was divided up into three classes, including instruction for physical directors, another department for boy secretaries and another one for general secretaries of states. We had our work cut out for us and it consisted of six and seven hours of studying, listening to lectures and general discussions each day. But we enjoyed it immensely and can already see where the Astoria Y. M. C. A. can be improved and systematized in various ways.

"We expect to apply our knowledge to the association work here and the coming year will be a big one in Astoria for the members of the Y. M. C. A."

Accompanying Mr. Ellis to Seabeck was Leonard Spande, the efficient boys secretary of the Y. M. C. A. here. Like Mr. Ellis, Spande was given special coaching in his particular department and has returned home with many new ideas for the work here.

To Reorganize Work Here

Roy J. Clark, general secretary of the Astoria Y. M. C. A., only recently returned from Estes Park, Colorado, where he attended a conference of general secretaries from all parts of the country. With the cooperation of Messrs. Ellis and Spande, Mr. Clark expects to reorganize the work here and make it all the more efficient.

Leonard Spande Is Named Physical Director at Astoria Y. M. C. A.

Leonard Spande, an Astoria young man, who has for the past eight months been assistant physical director of the Young Men's Christian association, has been given a permanent position as physical director, succeeding Lester M. Ellis who formerly had charge of the classes and who is now at the head of the physical training department of the Astoria public schools.

Spande joined the association when it was first started here and has always taken an active interest in the work of all departments, especially the gymnasium, and was an able assistant to Mr. Ellis under whose guidance he soon became proficient in class leading. Ellis resigned several months ago to take the position with the schools and Spande since that time has had charge of nearly all the classes, doing fine work.

He has the co-operation of all members of the association including the grown-ups and youngsters and is popular with all, and his friends are congratulating the board upon their selection for the important place. Secretary Clark, who announced the board's action yesterday will have charge of the business men's class, Spande taking care of the others.

PARADES PROVE BIG FEATURE OF CELEBRATION

Chinese Win First Prize On July 4th With Beautiful Float

WELLS-FARGO STAGE COACH IN LINE

Rev. Van Marter Makes the Address on Court House
Steps—Fine Musical Program

Two features of the "When Astoria Was Young and Fourth of July" celebration were the parades, the one on the morning of July 4th and the other the evening of the 5th.

H. D. Kribbs chairman of the "Preparedness and Historical" parade is to be congratulated on the success of the pageant. While it was not as extensive as some that have been held heretofore, there were many attractions that appealed to all. The committee took much care in preparing the floats, and the assistance given by others interested helped to make the pageant a big success.

The parade divided into two sections started from Exchange and 17th street and wended its way through the business section of the city. The first section was led by Grand Marshall Kribbs. The Columbia Marine band and the Seaside Concert band provided music for the occasion.

The Goddess of Liberty float was one of the most beautiful of the kind ever seen in a parade in this city. The character was taken by Miss Lela Ashworth and with her were 13 other young ladies, representing the 13 original states. The float was built in the shape of a star with five points.

Another beautiful float and one which took first prize was that entered by the local Chinese. It was handsomely decorated in Oriental colors with a number of Chinese maiden and children riding within.

A float that created much attention was the one bearing Mrs. Flavel and 50 children who sang later in front of the courthouse at the patriotic exercises. The float was applauded along the line.

Many of the old pioneers were in automobiles. Among them was Dr. Owens-Adair who appeared in a costume of 30 years ago.

But the feature of the historical section was the old stage coach sent here by the Wells-Fargo Express company. Drawn by four horses it was a reminder of the early days.

Veterans of the Civil and Spanish-American war were in line. A prairie schooner, decorated by J. E. Simmons and drawn by six horses attracted no little attention and brought visions of the early trials of the pioneers.

The judges from the parade were Frank Sweet, J. E. Roman and Chas. Haddix. They announced the following prizes:

Best decorated float—Chinese, $20; best float representative of pioneer days—Wells Fargo stage coach, $10; oldest vehicle in line—Wells Fargo stage coach, $10; best decorated automobile—"Central Chemical," Astoria fire department, $10.00; oldest pioneer in line H. P. Parker, $5.00; best pioneer costume, Dr. Owens-Adair, $5. $5.

Following the parade the patriotic exercises were held on the court house steps. A short musical program preceded the reading of the Declaration of Independence by Secretary Clark of the Y. M. C. A. The exercises opened by the children's chorus of 100 voices singing "America". Two other numbers were given by the children. The children showed the careful training they had received at the hands of Mrs. Harry Flavel who was in charge of this part of the entertainment.

Rev. Van Marter of Seaside who Miss Leah Cohen of Seaside, one of Oregon's most accomplished singers sang "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean" and she was heartily applauded by the thousands within hearing distance. made the address of the day was introduced by Prof. O. H. Byland, county school superintendent. Rev. Van Marter called attention to the patriotism of the forefathers of this country who fought to retain possession of their lands and commended the men who in the present crisis have volunteered to maintain the honor of the country.

Athletic Events

Leonard Spande, assistant physical director at the Y. M. C. A. made a complete success in staging the land and water sports. There were many entries in all events.

Astoria Wins Shoot

Astoria's team of shooters won the five man team event in the Fourth of July shoot held at the port docks Tuesday. The locals scored 104 birds out of a possible 125. Seaside and Rainier were the only other teams competing. A cup offered by Mr. Spexarth goes to the winning team.

Illuminated Parade

The parade at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening was very creditable and reflected much credit upon Joseph Marias who had the affair in charge. The parade was headed by the automobile of Mayor Johnson followed by the children's float, Chinese float, Goddess of Liberty, maskers etc. Little girls and doll buggies, red fire, torches, horns and bells were among the attractions.

Youngsters At Happy Banquet

Y. M. C. A. ENTERTAINS BOYS AND GIRLS WITH DINNER AND PROGRAM

One hundred and ten happy faced and eager youngsters, boys and girls, sat them down Saturday night at the Y. M. C. A. to the classic kid "feed" since the invasion of the grabateria. There were kids who yearned to stretch their lungs and foot for their association to the high grade girls who got used to the fun about three minutes after the gong tapped and all fell to.

And stories were told. Roy Clark, general secretary, spoke about nothing in particular, but dished cream and honey everywhere. A. Skyles, chairman of the boys' work committee, spoke, and so did Lester M. Ellis, the retiring physical director of the Y. M. C. A. Prof. Haver of the high school, spoke, and Chas. E. Gratzke expressed regret at the departure of Mr. Ellis.

After the banquet, which was given as a final chapter to the successful membership campaign held recently, a splendid program was given in the gymnasium. Pillow fight started the fun. Miss Loris Gratzke rendered a violin solo accompanied by Sanford Schlusell, that called for an encore, and Iva Claire Love, Eleanor Eakin and Loris Gratzke gave a delightful little folk dance.

A basketball game between the business boys and the intermediates concluded the evening's fun. The intermediates won. Score, 13 to 10.

GYM CROWDED

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. held a large assembly of boys and girls in the gymnasium last night on the occasion of the annual "open house" given by that organization. Nearly 500 persons were present. It is safe to state that no other organization of the Y. M. C. A. in America has been better attended.

Of course, the greatest attraction, although the musical numbers presented were of no mean order. The exhibition drill by the immediate class of boys under the leadership of Myron Hoefler was first on the program, and showed a high degree of proficiency, demonstrating the value of intelligent physical training. A dumbbell drill by 40 girls between the ages of 8 and 14 led by Leonard Spande, assistant physical director, was also a strong feature, and called for much applause.

An exhibition of tumbling by L. C. Earin, Myron Hoefler and Robt. Bartlett, and the Spanish folk dance by three girls, Misses Loris Gratke, Claire Love and Elinor Eakin, were both of a high degree of excellence.

The basketball game between the senior boys' team, captained by Jens Hermann, and the junior boys' team, captained by Albert Anderson, was a close contest, and the boys enjoyed the game very much.

At the close of the entertainment, boxes of apples, donated by the local merchants, were served to the boys. They were: Albert Anderson, Curtis Dyer, Chas. Poisky and Chas. Smith.

HIS WORK GOOD

Leonard Spande, an Astoria
Young Man, Has Charge of Many Classes.

Since the resignation of E. J. Ellis, physical director at the local Y. M. C. A., practically all of the work of conducting the many classes in the physical department has devolved upon Leonard Spande, assistant physical director. Classes meet every day, except Sunday and many hours of strenuous work are put in by the children and grownups, both men and women, boys and girls.

The attendance of the various classes during the past month has been unusually large and is equal to last year for the same month, while in most classes an increase is shown in the membership, the figures being taken from the 15th of October to the 15th of November, both this year and last year.

The average attendance of the junior class last year was 26, this year 14; intermediate class last year, 11, this year 20; preparatory class last year 25, this year 17; busy men last year 20, this year 42; business boys last year 22, this year 13; girls last year 20, this year 42; business women last year 21, this year 19. These are the classes led by Mr. Spande at the present time.

Until another physical director is found, Mr. Ellis will continue to have charge of the young men and ladies classes. During the period Oct. 15—Nov. 15—last year the class of young men numbered 24, this year 17; ladies class last year 16, this year 19.

Secretary Clark has charge of the business men's class which last year had 26 members, this year 14.

The board and other officers are highly pleased with the efforts of Mr. Spande, for what he lacks in technical training he makes up by hard conscientious work, winning the cooperation of all his classes. He was trained for this work while in the leaders class and is making good. He has a system to his work and looks after all classes equally well.

Financial Condition Good—
Physical Dept. Active

According to an announcement made by Secretary Clark yesterday, the local Y. M. C. A. closes upon the month of December, numbered with the exception of the bonded indebtedness. Six months ago, when Mr. Clark assumed the secretaryship there was an indebtedness of $2,000.

The financial condition is now in excellent shape. For the past few months Leonard Spande, has been in charge of the physical work with considerable success. E. M. Ellis, instructor in the physical department, Mr. Spande's work has been very satisfactory and through his efforts connected with the Y. M. C. A. in a short time. However, it is expected that the instructor in the physical department will be secured within the next few weeks. He will be in charge of the physical department.

Grays River

GRAYS RIVER, Was., Jan. 24.—

On Saturday Manager Glyn McAlister marshalled his men and hied them away for the early anticipated game of basket ball between his team and the Astoria intermediates at the Y. M. C. A. building in Astoria. Again our team went down to defeat but, "Are we down hearted? No." Our team showed a decided improvement over previous games and is still ready to play anything that offers in spite of the adverse score of 3 to nine. The sting of defeat was entirely taken out of the minds of the local players owing to the royal treatment the Astoria boys accorded their visitors. From the time the boat landed and they were met by an Astoria delegation until they returned home everything possible was done for their coming. Manager Glyn McAlister, who is a native of Grays River, and his team, the Grays River team, were defeated by the Astoria team. The Grays River team was composed of the following players: Glyn McAlister, Manager; J. M. McAlister, Captain; J. M. McAlister, Second; J. M. McAlister, Third; J. M. McAlister, Fourth; J. M. McAlister, Fifth; J. M. McAlister, Sixth; J. M. McAlister, Seventh; J. M. McAlister, Eighth; J. M. McAlister, Ninth; J. M. McAlister, Tenth. The Astoria team was composed of the following players: J. M. McAlister, Captain; J. M. McAlister, Second; J. M. McAlister, Third; J. M. McAlister, Fourth; J. M. McAlister, Fifth; J. M. McAlister, Sixth; J. M. McAlister, Seventh; J. M. McAlister, Eighth; J. M. McAlister, Ninth; J. M. McAlister, Tenth. The game was a close one, but the Astoria team won by a score of 3 to 9. The Grays River team will be back in Astoria next Saturday for another game.

GEORGE ROSS.
BOYS' WORK SECY. Y.M.C.A.

VANCOUVER, B.C.

It is with deep regret that the members of the Y. M. C. A. see Mr. Spande leave the local institution. During the time that the young man has been connected with the work he made wonderful improvement and gave general satisfaction, and it was with much surprise that his many friends learned that another had been secured to take charge of the work. The board desired to retain Mr. Spande as assistant director to take charge of the boys' classes, but Mr. Spande declined. During the time that he has been in charge of the work at the Y. M. C. A. many of the classes have largely increased and the members have been well pleased with the work of the instructor.

Alfred Hodges, the newly employed physical director of the Young Men's Christian Association, will arrive in the city the latter part of the week. Mr. Hodges comes highly recommended on his chosen profession, and is well qualified to carry on the work inaugurated by Mr. Ellis, the former director. The board of directors of the association is unanimous in feeling that the highest type of efficiency must be maintained. Therefore when the opportunity of securing Mr. Hodges presented itself they were quick to secure his service. Leonard Spande, the young man who has so faithfully carried on the work during the time when the association was without a director, has resigned his position with the coming of Mr. Hodges. This is regretted very much by the board, as they had expected to keep him in the position of boy's secretary.

Pennant on Exhibition.

S. A. Gimre, the Bond street show man, is exhibiting the handsome pennant which recently arrived and which he will award to the team winning the basketball championship in the intermediate league at the Young Men's Christian association in this city. It is a beautiful trophy and well worth working hard to secure. The pennant was brought down from Portland by Leonard Spande when he returned home Monday evening from that city after spending a few days there.

Filled Wrong Tank.

Here is a good one that is being told on Alvin Anderson, secretary of the Astoria Pulp & Paper company. The other day he started for the mill in his Ford car. He ran out of gasoline before getting very far and returned to the garage. Running inside he secured a gallon of gasoline. When he went outside he poured the fluid into the tank of another Ford touring car which had been stopped in front of the garage while he was in the building, before realizing his mistake. Anderson's mind on several things to do, and did not notice that the other Ford was there until he had filled it.

Boy Scouts Open House

EXCELLENT ENTERTAINMENT TO BE STAGED BY LOCAL TROOP ON FRIDAY

The local troop of Boy Scouts of America will hold an open house at their headquarters at Camp Astoria, at the city park Friday evening. The event promises to be of more than usual interest as it will be in the nature of a farewell to the scoutmaster and the assistant scoutmaster.

Ralph Stevens, who organized the troop in October 1916 and Leonard Scande whom has been his assistant from that time, will leave in the immediate future for Camp Lewis where they will enter the service of their country.

At tomorrow evening's entertainment Scout Billy Kenney will be presented with first medal for distinguished service in the war saving stamp campaign. In order to qualify for such distinction, it is necessary to sell war saving stamps to 25 different persons, an aggregate amount of $350. To date Scout Kenney has disposed of stamp to over 100 different people and the amount of his sales total over twice the required amount. The medal which he will receive is considered the highest distinction that can be granted anyone for service of this kind.

Tomorrow night's program will begin promptly at eight o'clock. All former members of the Astoria troop, visiting scouts and their parents are invited to attend. Active members of the troops are especially urged to be present. The scouts will give various exhibitions of their work, from campcraft to handiwork. The McEachern band will assist in making the evening pleasurable.

The scout headquarters at the located in the region of a Port Astor. The work that the boys have done in the improvement of this place is certainly a tribute to their ability and to the careful guidance of Scoutmaster Stevens. They have converted an old log cabin into a veritable palace. The inside of the building is finished in rustic style with skins and rustic furniture. The camp is proof of the boy scout principle, that under the guidance of such men as Scoutmaster Stevens has proved himself to be, wonder can be accomplished with the rising generation.

BOY SCOUTS HONOR SCOUTMASTERS

SCOUTMASTER AND ASSISTANT
LEAVE TO ENTER COUN-TRY'S SERVICE

Troop Number 1, Astoria, Boy Scouts of America was host to over 500 people at their open house held at Camp Astor at the city park last evening. The program was made up of regular scout activities ending with regular scout refreshments—hot dog sandwiches with coffee and cake for the visitors.

The McEachern band furnished the music for the evening. As soon as the band arrived the scouts marched down the hill and pitched their tents in front of the cabin. Then followed an exhibition of some of the scout sports. Knights and steeds and the blanket toss occupied the stellar positions.

After the sports were over five tenderfoot scouts were given the final examinations for second class recognition. The boys who took the test were Richard and Eben Carruthers, Chester Noonan, Chester Hull and Wesley Ellis.

Billy Kenney was presented with a war saving stamp medal for his part in the recent drive by Reverend Turrill. Scout Billy sold war saving stamps to 100 different customers, his sales totaling over $600.

When Old Sol went across the horizon and left the camp dark, the scouts invited everyone inside their camp to see a moving picture. The film was projected from the scouts own movie lantern, with one of the scouts operating the machine. After the picture was over a lunch was served to all of the visitors present.

The open house was in the nature of a farewell to Scoutmaster Ralph Stevens and Assistant Scoutmaster Leonard Spande. Both of these men who have meant so much to the local troop are leaving for Camp Lewis on Monday to enter their country's service. During the evening Scoutmaster Stevens and Assistant Spande were presented with gifts of appreciation by the troop. Scoutmaster Stevens was given a handsome fountain pen and note book, and Assistant Spande was given a soldiers kit. The scoutmaster was also presented with a handsome signet ring by Troop Mother, Mrs. R. C. Ellsworth.

The Astoria troop service flag now has three stars. Two have just been added, the first being for Herbert A. Wilson, who prior to his enlistment was senior patrol leader. Wilson is now serving with the American expeditionary forces in France.

SURPRISE SUPPER

Planned in honor of Leonard Spande the girls of the Wednesday evening class of the Y. M. C. A. and the boys of the Monday and Thursday classes gave a surprise supper Thursday at the Y. M. C. A. There were about twenty girls present and twenty seven boys. After dinner the boys of the Junior basket ball team played those of the Intermediate and second team winning from them, the score being 27 to 12.

One of the features of the trip was a banquet given at the Marlborough, one of the leading hotels of the northwest, presided over by the French consul-general at the city, who was accompanied by the local press, and the toast of "long life to the French republic" given by the state to-be governor held at St. Louis.

The Y. M. C. A. was again visited by F. E. Foster, the head Y. M. C. A. of L. E. S. and the general director, Mrs. Jeffers and Mrs. G. V. Palmberg.

Before a crowd that taxed the capacity of the Lord Y. M. C. A. auditorium, "Open House" night sold exceedingly, proved profitable and a successful event, according to F. F. Boston, general secretary.

Two! Football games, musical selections by the Girls' Glee club of the Captain Robert Gray school, and the Rinkydink orchestra, tumbling and gymnasium events made up the program, which was put off in one two three order.

In the last basketball game, the Junior A's squad defeated the Junior B's by the score of 26 to 14 in a close and fast game.

The sum of over the Young Men and the Intermediates was the feature of the evening, the Young Men winning by the score of 44 to 40. At no time in the game was the score more than seven points apart. Between halves the Intermediates and Junior entertained with tumbling and "high-diving" stunts.

Of particular interest was the dumb-bell drill by students of the Cadet and Prep class, under the leadership of Leonard Spande.

"Mr. Spande and the Secretary took four basketball teams Portland for an outing rewarding the boys for their successful season. Twenty-six boys were taken - two junior teams and two intermediate teams. The boys won seven out of eight games and were defeated only by a team four or five years their seniors. Mr. Roy French, basketball referee of the State, spoke to the boys. He said, "Astoria boys play the cleanest and hardest basketball he had seen." Mr. Spande is planning a basketball banquet in the near future. He conducted an "Open House" on March 11th. The events were not elaborate but seemed to please and the gymnasium was packed. The dumb bell drill of the Preps and Cadets was the hit of the evening. 'High Diving' and basketball were also popular events.

Honest John Warren, Benson Tech, conquered Benson Tech, the previous champions, 26 to 25, in a hard-fought a melee of the court as has been witnessed on the Willamette gymnasium floor in many a tournament contest tonight. It was a battle between two combinations of high school boys keyed to their season's peak. And neither would give an inch to the other throughout the 32 minutes of excited play that had a packed audience holding its breath for the final sound of the gun.

Excitement Lasts Long.

No sooner had the folks settled back as comfortably as possible on the hard bleacher seats than Salem and Corvallis took the spotlight to stage another sparkling tussle.
For a full half and more, the Salem rooters watched this game in awe, as believably, as Corvallis figured out as a dark horse, jumped into a commanding lead. Then these same looking on goggle-eyed as the players clever, but slender lads of Salem came up with a sparkling rally that won 35 to 23 victory. It seemed incredible at the Salem quintets are playing, even prairie fire, a mountain slide or hurricane could not be able to their crashing offensives. Confidence both clubs had it. And they had dangling and would gamble for points.

Montevideo appeared as a clearing house for all rumors concerning the movement of sides in the revolt. Federal sources reported army airplanes again had bombed Belo Horizonte, capital of the state of Minas Geraes and Fey to the rebel position north of Rio De Janeiro, while revolutionaries declared they had again turned against the government. Revolutionaries were disturbed by reports from Sao Paulo that the population there was rallying to the support of the government and forming infantry battalions to oppose the advance of the revolutionary forces from the south. Sao Paulo has been the stronghold of the federal government, as former President Arturo Bernardes, President Washington Luis, and President-Elect Julio Prestes are all "Paulistas", residents of the coffee state.

Rebel sources in Porto Alegre claimed the capture of Pernambuco had been decided.

Record Girls Gym Class.

Fifty Astoria school girls between the ages of 10 and 15 composed the gymnasium class that appeared in the regular exercises of the local Y. C. A. held at the school building last night. The girls were put through a series of bell drills, and a number of games and exercises. The entire class was led by Louise Hansen, secretary, and Hilma Jacobson, treasurer.

L. Spande To Assist With Y. M. Gym

Leonard Spande has been named as part time physical director for the Astoria Y. M. C. A. to conduct gymnasium classes for boys of the intermediate and high school age at 7 o'clock Monday and Tuesday evenings. It was announced today by F. F. Foster, executive secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Spande has been particularly successful in his gymnasium work. Mr. Foster said in making the announcement. "Among his proteges is 'Swede' Westergren who began his basketball career in the Astoria Y. M. C. A. under the direction of Mr. Spande. "Other graduates of his class have also been prominent players in high school and college athletic circles."

He began his training along basketball at the first of the first basketball field in the Astoria Y. M. C. A. Mr. Foster said, under Foster's name, physical director, now general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Boise, Idaho. Spande later became an assistant under Elmer, and during the war took Elmer's place as director for a time. He has also been part-time physical director here but had to give up the work on account of being drafted on his time. Now he has only two evenings a week and expects to be able to depend on that basis.

The first class under the new arrangement will be held Thursday evening of this week, and the work will consist of short warm-up exercises and an interesting variety of apparatus work.

A number of intermediate clubs have been organized at the Y. M. C. A. for winter sports, with a number of a Uniontown club Mr. Foster announced. The organization of the Uniontown group will probably also be recognized for intermediate competition.

To our Customers, Friends and Public

In these days of tribulations I wish to write a word of advise:—

The end of the world has not as yet come. Neither are you and I dead.—After we find ourselves, the struggle for existence will be as keen as ever. However, our interests are so locked with each others that to ignore the other party and only think of our "SELF" is an act that only works as a boomerang and will hit hardest those whom it was not intended to strike. Therefore watch your steps ! Keep cool !

In these days of excitement many propositions will confront you. They spell big gain in a short time. These are the days of the "Flash in the Pan" proposition. After the flash and smoke has passed you have nothing left.

If one of the sufferers:—It will pay you best to attend to your insurance first. Diligently, cool and relentlessly. Don't try to overdo the fire collection part, the fire insurance companies are human. Demand what is honestly yours—and stop at that. You will get it. They must PAY.

After your losses are paid, square up what you owe, especially first with those that suffered with you in the fire

After all your debts are paid, count your pennies—and use them wisely and pay as you go.

If so unfortunate as not to have anything left over—or that you are even in debt: State it to your former business associates. If you have played the game square before, come to me.

Save your reputation for square dealing—and your credit—it will count for more than every thing that you possibly have saved.

If you have not suffered directly—try and diligently pay what you owe—especially first to the direct sufferers of the conflagration. Don't be small, it is the rolling of the Dollar that will put us all on our feet again, some of those dollars will come your way again !

To all and every one:—

STAY WITH ASTORIA—If you have a mind leaving—let us sell you a perfectly good and respectable trunk, have several saved from the fire. So that you may make a good impression in the world as coming from Astoria. But remember, it is mighty cold at the North pole and you are liable to get your toes burned at the equator—and there are rocky roads even in Dublin.

WE are going to have a greater and grander ASTORIA than ever.

And WE are going to be one of the founders of that GREATER ASTORIA ! Will you ?

Respectfully yours,

AUGUST HILDEBRAND.

Gregory's Sport Gossip

BY L. H. GREGORY

My goodness, those galloping Astorians! The sight of the wide football tournament at Salem was that final game Saturday night in which, playing for the fourth time in four days—always at the same galloping clip—the magnificent team command over Jefferson after the first quarter and with their leading breaks, six 10 passes and a beautiful ball has found these 20 points ahead at the final.

Sustained speed! That's the most important single attribute of any champion, and basketball great Astoria high exemplify it in high school basketball.

Did you ever hear except very temporarily, and ALWAYS through accident - of a good character?

SPEED AND PUNCH

What kept Jack Dempsey so long on top as heavyweight champion. Not merely that he punched so hard. Alone, that isn't enough. He could throw in those big punches faster, and do it better, than the

NOCLIMATIC ELIXIR

With the ability of course must go endurance the ability to maintain the fast gait indefinitely. Otherwise it wouldn't be sustained, would it?
How do these Astoria boys, year after year, manage to keep up their pacing right through to the finish?

Can there be some special quality in the Astoria climate, some element in their famous rainpods that produces faster, better athletes than any other part of Oregon? This was the school's seventh consecutive tournament appearance and fourth championship in the seven seasons.

If that were it, Astoria, Ore., would have been heard from in the same proportion in the nine other years, whereas it only

Gregory's Sport Gossip

BY L. H. GREGORY
Sports Editor, The Oregonian

The color and dramatic interest in the state high school tournament at Salem this year has centered around two teams. Astoria, as usual, and a flashing, dashing band of newcomers out of class B, the boys from Oakridge high.

...these have their dramatic moments. All have excellent backgrounds, both. But the two that stand up the drama is Antony and Cleopatra and Julius Caesar. The latter is a more serious play, but the former is a more serious play. Antony and Cleopatra is a more serious play.

One of the things you read this will have been illustrated by the cases of our "Savage" hunter, the American Indian, who, after coming to the United States, first spent a month in the prison hospital, then came to the State Prison, and finally to the State Hospital, where he died.

GALLOPING ASTORIANS

There is one notable factor that should be kept in mind that may well affect a high Three championship record in our tournaments.

The specialty of the Astorians is running opponents to death—how do they keep up that ceaseless galloping? "Honest John" Warren conditions them in elimination running races. To try to out-drive them is the temptation, but that's playing their game and means sure death; just as it's fatal in the northern division to try to out-drive Heck Edmundson's Washington Huskies, the varsity team these kids from Astoria most resemble.

43 BOYS IN SCHOOL

The team from Oakridge high (a combination of Oakridge and West Fir districts) is entirely different in type. This little union high school has 94 students (hence the class B, meaning a team from a high school of less than 150 students), of whom only 43 are boys. But of the 43, 25 play basketball.

The Oakridge boys can drive, too, but their strength lies more in clever ball handling and accurate shooting.

Four of the six who play most of the basketball for Oakridge have played together under the same coach four seasons, which explains their team play and ball handling. Baseball is played at Oakridge, but no football as yet. Thus the youngsters probably concentrate more on basketball than where football is a conflict.

SCOUTETTE

WHY IS A SCOUT?

(Not So Verse?)

A scout is the one who is in the lead
From the time that he learns how to write and to read.

He is first at home and first in his school;

He's always ahead, a scout is no Fool.

And when he grows up, he is on the square;

He always is honest and always fair.
A scout will not cheat, he never will lie,

He won't be disgraced; he would rather die.

But while a scout lives, he lives like a man.

He does the most good, wherever he can.

He honors his parents and all womankind.

In wicked places no scout you will find.

And during his long, successful Career.

The truly good scout finds God always near.

Hence is it not fine, to be a good scout.

You boy scouts come in when we old
Scouts go out.

English sisters find Americans

Exchange student returns for

By LESLEY FORNAS
Of The Daily Astorian

It required a 48-hour bus ride from Minneapolis to Astoria, but Janey and Julie Povall of Birkenhead, England arrived in plenty of time for the wedding last Saturday of Arlene Orwick and Bill Landwehr.

Attending the wedding during her summer holiday in America was a special treat for Janey Povall, who spent the 1972-73 school year with the Erling Orwick family in Astoria as an American Field Service student.

Miss Povall, 21, and her sister Julie, 17, had planned the trip to America for some time and were more than pleased when they found they could include the wedding in their summer plans.

The two sisters flew from Ireland to New York before travelling to Minneapolis to spend the July 4 holiday with their mother's cousins.

This marks the first trip to America for the younger woman, who said she had been saving for the trip since the age of six. It also is the first time the older Miss Povall has returned to the states since her AFS assignment.

Julie Povall said she has "enjoyed every minute" of the trip.

Her sister has been enjoying a week of renewing acquaintances made while an AFS student here and said she hadn't noticed any great changes in Astoria.

"Some of the buildings now were being built are finished. Some shops moved around. Little bits of Astoria changed, but it's the people that make the place," said the elder Miss Povall.

She said she was sorry to miss seeing some of her Astoria friends who had married and moved away or were out of town. But she said there were many persons she had visited who remembered her.

"They remember me a lot quicker than I remember them," said an amused Janey Povall. "I remember faces but can't recall names."

She said she was sorry to learn that Miss Friedrich, a long-time counselor at Astoria High School, had died shortly before her arrival.

"She was really good to me when I was here. She had a surprise birthday party for me at her home and I still have a toile painting she gave me hanging in my room at home."

The young women from England said they found the American Bicentennial July 4 celebration interesting.

They spent the day as most Americans do, visiting at a family picnic and watching a fireworks display in Minnesota.

"It was typically American, bigger and better fireworks," said Janey Povall with an amused smile. "We expected a bit more pageantry though."

She said she had found Americans "desperately patriotic" during this Bicentennial year and that after hearing "America the Beautiful" all day July 4 she found it somewhat funny.

Before leaving home in England, the two women were approached by friends, whom Janey Povall said "teased us and said we were going back to the colonies."

The two sisters said travel is popular with young English students, especially when there are places to stay that cut down on travel expenses.

Travelling by bus most of the time, the Povall sisters will criss-cross their way across America, stopping to see places of interest where they can stay with relatives.

Janey Povall said they had found travel in the states so far "smooth and efficient" but that they would try to avoid another 48-hour bus ride.

"It was pretty gruelling," she said.

"Everything seems so long. You go to sleep and wake up and you're still in one state and you begin to think there's 48 of these," she said.

The two young women have extended bus passes that allow them to travel as they please during July and August.

House guests of Bruce and Kristina Berney in Astoria, the Povall sisters travelled with the Orwick family to the Taholah Indian Reservation in Washington this week to visit the Orwick's son before going on to Seattle to visit relatives.

From there, the two visitors from England will work their way down the west coast to Los Angeles and Disneyland before leaving for the east coast to see more relatives.

"Julie's waiting for better weather," laughed the older Miss Povall in explaining their desire to head south. "And we just want to say we've been to Disneyland. It's so famous around the world."

Other possible stops for the travellers are the Grand Canyon, Yellowstone National Park, Mt. Rushmore, Niagara Falls and some other national parks.

The two young women said they were getting used to Americans "driving on the wrong side of the road" and the difference in food but that they can't seem to get enough American ice cream.

"It's different," says Janey Povall. "It's creamier, thicker and there are more flavors."

They said their parents finished financing the trip for them and were happy that they could make it. Their parents probably will make a similar trip to the states next spring.

Janey Povall says she doesn't know if she'll return to the states again, at least the west coast.

"Julie will probably come again to see Washington, D.C. I saw it when I was here with AFS. I don't know about me. I love it, but there are other places I want to see, too."

Family still operates pioneer Astoria store

By RUSSELL DARK
Correspondent, The Oregonian

ASTORIA — Here, drawn straight across the old Astorian planked street block, in 1890 when William Schell and Erik Hauke opened their general store at Todd and Franklin streets, the building was on the site of the Cornelius & Hay store, established several years before just a stone's throw from the site of the first customs office in the west.

The Hauke market is still doing business at the same location today, and is believed to be the oldest grocery store in Oregon being operated by the same family.

Erik was born in Norway and arrived in Astoria in 1881, a year after the great fire of 1880 which destroyed the downtown business district. The Hauke family, previously located in a district known as "Upper East of Astoria," Astoria, came after the collection of a fine.

The new enterprise carried out line of groceries, meats, crockery, apples for delivery and hay and food Hauke lived near until he died in 1915, after which the store was taken over by his widow and daughter, first Mrs. J. J. Hauke, who took orders in the morning and returned in the afternoon and evening.

During an attempted burglary in June, 1915, the store caught fire and was destroyed. While a new building was under construction, Erik Hauke ran the wheel of his Model T in the store car lot, and passed from the press of the road to his death.

The family, the widow and six children, continued association with the business, and following World War II a son, Erik Hauke, became manager and later president and major shareholder.

The 1915 building has been remodeled many times and now houses a department market.

"We are doing one last," said Erik Hauke recently. "This was the first market in Astoria to install refrigeration."

'Round And About

Leonard E. Spande, 3682 Franklin, is one of Astoria's recent and enthusiastic citizens to make the flight to the Scandinavian countries by way of the North Pole.

Mr. Spande, an employee of the SP&S for more than 30 years, left Los Angeles about the first of July for a month's visit in Stockholm and Copenhagen. He counts as the most thrilling part of the trip the flight over the ice fields of Greenland and Iceland, during which they enjoyed unusually clear weather from Winnipeg to Copenhagen. Spande said that just after leaving Greenland they were served sandwiches and coffee at 2:30 a.m. in the bright light of the Midnight Sun.

It was Spande's first trip to Europe and his first air flight. He is an enthusiastic convert to both, especially the polar flight.

New along the waterfront (Marine Drive) these days is the aluminum siding nearing completion on the Arrow Tug and Barge building just west of the ferry landing. Quite an improvement as far as modernization goes, but a loss to several local artists who delighted in sketching the old warehouse and docks.

Salvage Chief Rides Out Storm, Bettie M Near Freedom

Buffeted by winds gusting up to 55 knots, the rescue vessel Salvage Chief rode out Tuesday night inside the north jetty where the tuna boat Bettie M lies stranded in the sands.

No effort was made Tuesday night to move the Bettie M although the tuna boat is afloat at the bow. High winds and the monstrous waves caused Capt. Reino Mattila of the Salvage Chief to postpone further efforts until the weather breaks.

The Bettie M, carrying 900 tons of tuna for Bumble Bee Seafoods of Astoria went ashore on the north side of the river early Saturday. No reason has yet been given by authorities for the stranding. The tide was high at the time and the vessel settled solidly in the sands.

During the rescue operation, the Salvage Chief has been hit by a number of accidents which delayed the operation, a broken anchor line, a broken towline, and burnt out bearings in a winch.

Capt. Mattila blamed the deep draft of the Bettie M as another factor which delayed the rescue. During Monday's attempts to free the stranded vessel, Tim Malinen, 25, Astoria, a crewman aboard the Salvage Chief, suffered a broken hip when a giant wave washed him against deck equipment. He was airlifted by the U.S. Coast Guard to Clatsop airport and taken to Columbia Memorial hospital where he was reported to be doing well.

Capt. Mattila said renewed efforts to save the stricken tuna boat would depend on the weather. No effort has been made to remove the cargo of the Bettie M.

Surf pounding the Bumble Bee Seafoods tuna seiner Bettie M was causing her to dig her own grave on a spit at Cape Disappointment, Wash.

The 191-foot tuna seiner, with 900 tons of tuna on board, has been on the spit since early Saturday morning. She went up during the series of the highest tides of the month and tides are continually decreasing for the rest of the month.

The Bettie M is valued at about $3.25 million and the cargo aboard was estimated to be worth about $540,000 to the fishermen.

Over 500 employees of Bumble Bee Seafoods in Astoria were waiting for the Bettie M to bring in the tuna to reactivate the canning lines. Seafood processors have been laid off for several weeks until the first seiners arrive back from the 1976 South Pacific grounds.

Bumble Bee crews were ready to unload the seiner Saturday morning, when the news was received that the vessel was aground. The disappointment is great to many, one worker describing the atmosphere at the cannery like a waiting room when a family was waiting for the news of death of a close relative.

If the Salvage Chief succeeds in loosing the seiner, Bumble Bee is prepared to unload the vessel immediately of the catch. The fish is believed to be unspoiled because it is in sealed holds. But because of their stand-by status, the tuna dock is not able to receive three other seiners that are tied up in San Pedro waiting to unload in Astoria. Those vessels will not be able to dock in Astoria, until the fate of the Bettie M is known.

The boat has taken water over the main engine and has sustained cracks around the stern and shaft alley. The crew reported its pumps couldn't handle the water and asked for help from the Coast Guard.

A helicopter lifted the 11-man crew to safety. Fifty knot winds and eight to 10 foot seas hampered the rescue operation.

Oregon Cities Lobby For More Revenue Sharing

A delegation of nine Oregon municipal officials who travelled to the nation's capital this week to lobby for reenactment of general revenue sharing came home last Wednesday night encouraged by the support of their representatives in Congress.

Altogether, more than 1,500 city officials lobbied Capitol Hill March 14-16 in an effort to secure renewal of revenue sharing which is deemed vital to city budgets if taxes and services are to remain stable.

The nine Oregon delegates from Eugene, Salem, Lake Oswego, Beaverton and Hammond won commitments from the two Oregon revenue sharing the picture is even dimmer, according to Richard Carruthers, League president and Mayor of Hammond.

"Without revenue sharing, communities across the country are going to be in serious fiscal trouble," Carruthers said.

"At stake are the recession-squeezed budgets of some 39,000 state and local governments. This is local income tax money that is being sent to the federal government and some of it should be returned to the communities from which it came," he said.

The General Revenue Sharing program, approved by Congress in 1972, will

Concert At AHS

A concert program to suit many musical tastes will be presented in the High School auditorium, Monday March 29, by the Pacific Lutheran University Concert Band and Jazz Ensemble.

Symphonic band music, jazz and two John Phillip Sousa marches will highlight the program, which will be held at Astoria High School at 8:00 p.m. The 60-piece band ensemble, under the direction of Roger Gard, are currently on a concert tour of Oregon, California and Washington.

The program, sponsored by the Astoria High School Band and Lutheran churches opens with "Festive Overture", by Dimitri Shostakovich. Composed in 1954, the work has been transcribed for symphonic band by Donald Hunsberger, director of the Eastman Wind Ensemble.

Trumpet soloist Dick Hoye, a senior from Los Angeles, is featured during performance of Ib Glindemann's "Concerto for trumpet." The work was composed by a Scandinavian, but it has a definite Spanish flavor.

The 21-piece ensemble will perform "Canzona" by Peter Menhin, "Variations for Oboe and Wind" by Rimsky-Korsakov, and "George Gershwin's "American in Paris." Soloist Julie Brye from Corvallis, Ore., is the featured soloist during the Rimsky-Korsakov work performance.

Commercial Fishing Industry Hit Hard In New Regulations

Restrictions imposed by the Oregon Fish and Wildlife Commission at its March 19 hearing severely limiting the commercial fishing industry and also affecting ocean sport fishermen, are designed to meet a federal court order and aid weak runs of salmon on the Columbia river.

More than 500 persons attended the commission's 12-hour meeting.

Offshore fishery restrictions adopted by the commission cut an entire month out of the commercial season north of Tillamook head. Trollers working north of the head will not be allowed to take silvers until July 1. Sports fishermen, which account for the greater part of the silver catch, will be taking silvers from May 1.

The entire coast south of Tillamook Head will have a May 1 to Oct. 31 commercial troll season for chinook with a June 15-Oct. 31 season for coho. Commercial trollers will face a 26-inch minimum length limit for chinook and 16-inch minimum for coho. The limits apply coast-wide.

Sports-caught chinook must be a minimum of 24 inches for chinook and 16 inches for coho caught north of Tillamook head. There is no length limit for salmon sport-caught south of Tillamook head.

The commercial seasons amount to a three-month reduction in the chinook season and a coho season two months shorter than last year. Commercial fishermen from California, Washington and Oregon were present at the meeting.

the upper Columbia river and its tributaries to be as weak or weaker than the poor runs last year in view of this the Commission adopted a closure on chinook salmon angling in the Columbia, Deschutes, and Snake Rivers which will go into effect on April 1 and extend to July 31, except for the Snake, which will extend through December 31.

Airline Plan

Columbia Airlines will appear at the Public Utilities Commission hearing April 28 in Astoria to determine if that air carrier will supply freight and passenger service between Portland and Clatsop airport.

Traffic Manager Gail Packard of the Port of As-toria said the LaGrande based airline plans to use 10-place Navajo Chieftain aircraft on the proposed run.

Astoria has been without scheduled air service since the first of the year when Harbor Airlines cancelled its scheduled flights due to steady losses.

Transport Problems Aired At Hearing

Clatsop county's transportation system to the outside world came under discussion at a hearing Monday conducted by staff members of the State Department of Transportation during which facets of the states overall plan came to light.

Bob Kroyer told the small group that present activities include a program to be submitted to the legislature which will determine priorities for future allocation of state road money service," said one staff member. He predicted that the Greyhound Co. would ask for a reduction in the number of trips between Portland and Astoria since that firm is losing money on each trip. He said the pattern is similar throughout the state. Loss of train service, followed by cancellation of scheduled air flights, and finally reduction of bus service.

Participants at the hearing were given an opportunity to express views on

The Oregon delegation said it was especially pleased by the re-commitments of Sen. Bob Packwood and congressman Les AuCoin, who have strongly supported revenue sharing in the past. Sen. Packwood introduced the Administration's 5-3/4 year revenue sharing renewal bill on the Senate floor.

Rep. AuCoin has written a letter to his fellow congressmen strongly urging them to vote for renewal.

An Oregon League task force recently compiled projections indicating cities would be $71 million short of meeting obligation short of meeting obligations in a three-year period even if revenue sharing continues. Without additional funding of $39.85 billion. However, Congress has failed to complete action on the measure.

The Washington, D.C. meeting attended by the nine Oregon municipal delegates as the 10th annual Congressional-City Conference co-sponsored by the National League of Cities and the U.S. Conference of Mayors.

President Ford keynoted the meeting Monday. He said general revenue sharing strengthens local communities so that more decision making can be made at the local level.

Sen. Huber Humphrey of Minnesota added bi-partisan support for the measure. He spoke last Tuesday.

Contract Let

A $1,098,000 contract for reconstruction of Knappa High School was awarded last week to a Portland construction firm.

The Columbia 5-J school board awarded to the low bidder Cloyd R. Watt Construction Co. of Portland.

Mittet Construction of Astoria submitted the second best bid of $1,122,881.

The company that won the contract expects to start construction of new Knappa High facilities by the end of the month and complete the project sometime in 1977.

The low bid came in six percent over the architects estimate. However, none of the five bids exceeded $1.2 million.

the City of Astoria 1976-77 budget. Much of the cost depends on how the revision is done and how detailed it is.

Planning commissioners heard descriptions of available planning services and costs from the Clatsop-Tillamook Intergovernmental Council and from an independent planning consultant.

Use of the consultant or CTIC services are two possible alternatives to hiring additional city planning personnel.

The planning commission's budget is expected to increase in the budget because that budget probably will include salaries for the first time.

Debbie Chan Named New Extension Agent

Debbie Chan of Astoria is Clatsop County's new home extension agent. She will be in charge of home economics.

She is a 1974 home economics education graduate of Oregon State University.

Miss Chan, a native Astorian who graduated from Astoria High School in 1969, replaces Extension home economist Lurilee B. Wilson who was promoted to a job with the Extension service in Salem.

Miss Chan was also an intern teacher in home economics at Astoria High School during the 1973-74 school year.

Miss Chan took over her duties in the Extension office Monday. She said the first major Extension program that she will organize and participate in is a tri-county homemakers festival in Warrenton April 30.

Astoria Woman Shot To Death

Pearl Mattson, 72, was killed early Thursday morning at her home at 165 W. Bond. A 17 year old Astoria male is detained by police in connection with the shooting.

Mrs. Mattson was struck in the back by a 22 caliber bullet. She apparently was awakened by sounds and got out of bed to investigate, then was hit by the shot.

Apparently several shots were fired indiscriminately in the direction of the woman's home. She managed to telephone for help, but later died at Columbia Memorial Hospital.

Clatsop Dist. Att. Frank Coumont has classified the shooting as first degree manslaughter the legal classification for a death which results from reckless behaviour.

Authorities are considering recommending the youth be remanded to adult court, but a decision hasn't been announced.
